New Apprentice Employer - Metalwork

Thinking about employing someone? Think about New Apprenticeships.

New Apprenticeships mean well-trained and qualified employees who will be an asset to your business. There is also financial help if you take on and train a New Apprentice - from school students to adults.

Some rural and regional employers may even be eligible for extra financial benefits. Your local New Apprenticeships Centre will tell you more.

But there are other benefits, too. Specialised support from your New Apprenticeships Centre, flexible training to suit your needs and a choice of training provider. New Apprenticeships training programmes have been developed by industry for industry. Makes sense, doesn't it? With a New Apprentice you can get the right skills for the job.

To contact your local New Apprenticeships Centre call 1800 639 629 or visit the New Apprenticeships website at www.newapprenticeships.gov.au

New Apprenticeships are now available in more than 500 occupations.
